SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
BOARD OF FIRE COMMISSIONERS, FOR THE
YEAR ENDING APRIL 30, 1890.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF FIRE COMMISSIONERS,
74 TREMONT ST., BOSTON, May, 1890.

To His Honor THOMAS N. HART, Mayor: —

SIR, — The Fire Commissioners herewith submit their Seventeenth Annual Report, containing a statement of the fires and their causes, the condition of the department, and expenditures for the year ending April 30, 1890. While the Revised Ordinances provide that henceforth these reports shall be made in January, the Commissioners have deemed it proper to once more follow the custom and requirements of the past, and present another record of the department year, especially as it has been marked by events of more than usual interest and significance. The special report, recently made at your Honor's request, covers considerable that would otherwise appear in this.

THE FIRE RECORD.

The operations of the year must be classed under the heads of ordinary and extraordinary. The former classification includes the fires that come within the general average. In the latter belongs the conflagration of November 28, which has made a conspicuous chapter in the year's history. That event, deplorable as it was in the loss and fatality which it involved, demonstrated certain things by which the city ought to profit. The Commissioners have endeavored to take and use their part of the lesson, and they have received the prompt coöperation of your Honor and the City Council in putting many of their recommendations into force. While some of the smaller losses of the year still await more accurate adjustment, the total fire waste of this city amounts to about $4,750,000. The loss on buildings and contents by the Thanksgiving-day fire was $3,841,388, leaving about $908,612 to be accounted for by other alarms. During the year there have been 963 alarms, 23 second alarms, seven third alarms, one general alarm, and one call for outside assistance. Setting aside the great fire of the year, which stands apart from all others, and has been considered and treated as a special event, the fire loss of Boston for the year 1889-90 is less than for the year 1888-89. Following closely upon the Kingston-street fire were three other fires of considerable magnitude, the Summer-street fire, the Bristol-block fire, and the Sears-building fire, all of which were unusually formidable, not only on account of the great headway they had acquired before the department was called, but also because of the lack of important apparatus, destroyed Thanksgiving day. The officers and men of the department deserve much credit for the successful manner in which they overcame extraordinary difficulties, and kept these fires from spreading to other property. The great increase of electrical power, and the diversity of its application, constitute an element demanding many additional safeguards, and one which frequently acts as an obstacle to the operations of this department. So far as investigation has been able to reach the real facts, the cause of the Thanksgiving-day fire was electrical, and other fires of the year have been due to similar causes. This new force has come to stay, and is destined to rapid growth in the future, so that an adaptation of the department to the new conditions, by means of improved apparatus and methods, is indispensable to the safety of the city. This the Commissioners foresaw probably earlier than any one outside the department. It was impressed on their minds to the extent that, in the report preceding this, they said, "Before the close of the present year the Commissioners may have important recommendations to make regarding better protection of certain property in the down-town portion of the city." These recommendations were, in a measure, anticipated and sharply emphasized by the fire of November 28.

GROWTH OF THE DEPARTMENT.

A special appropriation of $510,000 was made soon after the Thanksgiving-day fire for a much-needed increase in the size and strength of the department. In accordance with the order making the appropriation, the application of this sum was to be for the following purposes: A fire-proof central headquarters to accommodate the offices of the Commissioners, the chief, the fire-alarm system, and several pieces of apparatus; a double company in Engine-house 26; land and a house for a double company on Congress street; site and house for an engine company at the North End; site and house for a ladder company in or near Ward 10; site and house for an engine company in Washington Village; an engine-house at Egleston square; an engine-house at Brighton; rebuilding the house of Engine 9 in East Boston; establishing a new engine company in East Boston, and another in Charlestown; and horses, apparatus, equipment, etc., to provide for the increase in companies. There have been obstacles in the way of rapid progress toward a complete accomplishment of the end proposed. No site has yet been provided for the central headquarters, though the Commissioners have made several recommendations that had the good of the city and the department in view. This is one of the most important features of the new programme approved some months ago by your Honor and the City Council. According to the plans then outlined such headquarters would constitute a centre of strength and convenience, the lack of which can never be made good by any of the make-shifts and substitutes that have yet been suggested. Work has been started on the Congress-street house, one of the more important of the new additions, and the department ought to be able to occupy it some time in the late autumn. A site has been purchased for a ladder-house near Ward 10; the house of Engine 26 has been refitted, and a double company is already located there; an engine company will soon be established in the house now occupied by Chemical Engine 3 on Longwood Avenue; another engine company will be established in Charlestown, and also one in East Boston as soon as quarters are ready. It is proposed to build engine-houses in Brighton and at Egleston square on the sites of Chemical Engines 6 and 5 respectively. It has thus far been found very difficult to find a suitably located site for an engine-house at the North End at a price within the appropriation, while the site in Washington Village approved by the Commissioners has not yet been accepted by the City Council. It is proposed to make all the new companies permanent, as the city cannot afford to further confess any such lack of necessary enterprise as would be indicated by an extension of the present weak and provincial call system. In their previous report the Commissioners said: "The question of a steady advancement of the department toward permanency is still held to be of the greatest importance. All the companies in South Boston, East Boston, Charlestown, and perhaps Roxbury, should be made permanent as soon as possible; and while the Commissioners do not wish to seem importunate, they ask your assistance and encouragement to this end." The logic of events for the past six months would seem to justify the Commissioners in now urging this reform with some degree of importunity.

NEW APPARATUS.

Considerable new apparatus has been received within the past few months, and more is in process of construction. Engine 22, which was pretty thoroughly broken up at the big fire, has been so completely restored by the makers that she has the appearance and satisfies all the requirements of a new engine, at only a little more than half the cost of a new one. A new second size Clapp & Jones engine has been placed in the house of Engine 26, and another in that of Engine 7. Engine 6 has a new second size Silsby, and another has been placed in the house of Engine 16. Three first size Clapp & Jones, and two second size Silsby engines are in the works, and will soon be ready for service. The Hayes ladder truck, destroyed November 28, has been replaced by a new one of the same manufacture, but of improved pattern. The water-tower, which met a like fate, has had its place filled by a new one more modern in construction, more powerful in delivery, and more convenient in its method of operating. The Commissioners hope to purchase soon, with the approval of your Honor, another water-tower, another aerial ladder truck, four third size steam fire-engines, and two chemicals. Preparations have been made to equip some of the hose wagons with Pompier ladders for special emergencies, and to provide some of the heavier pieces of apparatus, both engines and ladder trucks, with three-horse hitches.

SCHOOLS OF INSTRUCTION.

During the year great improvement has been made in the department in the way of systematic instruction. The drill school, established last summer, has increased the efficiency of the department more than any other one thing ever introduced. The new recruits, to date, have been obliged to go through the entire course, and the other permanent members of the force have satisfied or must satisfy its requirements. The system has been quite comprehensive, and its application has been thorough. The school is not intended as a gymnasium or as an exhibition to please the public, but as a practical preparation for the actual service in which the men of the department have enlisted. The practice gives them not only experience, but facility and confidence, and its good results have been demonstrated in various critical situations at fires. A school for enginemen under a competent instructor has also been put in operation. It takes those members whose previous occupation or natural adaptability gives them a basis for knowledge of the work, and builds upon that foundation. Already a number of its graduates are acting as assistant enginemen, to the satisfaction of their superior officers; and it is still in progress. Instruction in telegraphy for department purposes likewise constitutes a part of the general plan.

RETIREMENTS AND PENSIONS.

The pension roll has grown somewhat with the retirement of members at the end of the year on account of age or other disability. The additions to the list include one permanent district chief, one call district chief, one engineman, one permanent hoseman, two call captains, and five call hosemen and ladder-men. The pension received by each varies from $125 per annum to $666.66. The names of the widows of Murnan and Loker, killed at the November fire, will be put on the roll for the sum of $300 each per annum.

THE FIRE-ALARM.

The story of the Fire-Alarm Department for the year is told elsewhere. Its work has been good and some improvements have been introduced, while others are contemplated and will be adopted as soon as invention, which is just now very active in this direction, perfects them. But none of the dangers incident to its present location have been abated, nor can they be as long as the system remains where it is. The hazard involved is one of the strong reasons for providing a fire-proof central headquarters as soon as possible. That City Hall still stands, with this menace hovering over it, is a striking proof of the forbearance of Providence, which has thus far stayed the natural consequences of the situation.

CONDITION AND MORALE.

The qualities that go to make up good firemen have been severely tested, and have been found equal to the occasions which called for them. The members of the department, as a whole, are faithful, brave, and efficient. They manifest an honest pride in their responsible calling, and an enthusiasm that is a sure guarantee of loyal service. They are picked men, well trained and well disciplined, and the city has no better citizens, or more zealous servants.

THE POLICE.

Of the large increase of duty caused by the fires of the year, the police department has had to bear a considerable part. The Thanksgiving-day conflagration made extra work for that branch of the public service, not only while it was in progress, but for weeks after, and its efficiency and discretion deserved and received the warm commendation of this department and the public generally. The Commissioners are glad again to gratefully acknowledge the good offices of the Boston police, not only on that special occasion, but on many of minor importance.

THE FIRE MARSHAL.

The inquest duty of the year has been unusually heavy, involving the most patient investigation and the exercise of considerable discretion. The Fire Marshal has conducted his office with zeal and intelligence. While the law relating to incendiarism renders conviction difficult, he has nevertheless acquired and utilized a great deal of information of value to the underwriters and the public.

THE PROTECTIVE DEPARTMENT.

What has been said of the Fire Department can also be applied to the Protective Department. The same friendly relations between the two branches of the general service, that have characterized the past, still continue, and a spirit of mutual help and sympathy unites them. The protective work of Boston will compare favorably with that of any other city in the world.

ORGANIZATION.

The organization of the department consists of a Board of three Fire Commissioners, a Chief of Department, a Superintendent of Fire Alarms, 11 District Chiefs, and other members, including telegraph operators and employés of repair shops, to a number not exceeding one thousand men.

THE BOARD OF FIRE COMMISSIONERS consists of three members. One member is appointed annually, for a term of three years, from the first Monday in May each year. The nomination is made by the Mayor, subject to confirmation by the Board of Aldermen.

ROBERT G. FITCH, Chairman, for three years from May, 1889. Term expires May, 1892.

HORSES.

The number of horses in the department April 30, 1890, was 188 ; total number April 30, 1889, 189 ; 13 were purchased, 11 sold or exchanged, 2 died. Destroyed, 1. During the four winter months extra horses were placed in service under agreement with the owners that such service should be without cost to the city other than the care and feed, the same as is given the regular horses of the department. The horses have received inspection from the Hospital Surgeon, who has made weekly reports to the Board of their condition and treatment, both in quarters or at the hospital.

The number of horses receiving treatment during the year was 110, resulting in 249 cases, of which 50 — 14 were horses taken for use during the winter months — were received at the hospital stable, and the balance were attended at the houses of their companies. Of the 225 cases treated 7 were incurable. None died from disease. Three were killed while responding to alarms of fire.

WATER AND HYDRANTS.

The total number of hydrants in the city, May 1, was 5,542. In addition to these hydrants there are 238 fire reservoirs in different sections of the city, that contain from 300 to 500 hogsheads of water, and can be used in an emergency. The number of hydrants added during the year is as follows:—

67 Lowry, 145 Post, 4 Boston, and 91 Boston Lowry. The amount paid by this department for water and the care and maintenance of hydrants was $77,985.

In all cases the Water Board have cheerfully complied with the requests of this Board in the establishment of hydrants whenever necessity required.

FIRE-ALARM DEPARTMENT.

The new construction and repair work done by this department within the year ending April 30, 1890, is as follows:—

No. 5 circuit was rebuilt in October, 1889, connecting with Faneuil Hall bell and gongs in department houses for striking alarms only, no boxes being connected with it.

A new telephone circuit has been built to East Boston, and a part of the houses located in that district connected with it. In the construction of this circuit a twin wire cable was run from headquarters to Engines 9 and 11, connecting with submarine cable, laid by the Telephone company across the channel.

A new circuit has been run to the apparatus repair-shop, and the circuit to the house of the Chief of Department has been made metallic, by the use of twin wire cable, for the purpose of destroying induction.

The Brighton circuit has also been made metallic, with open wires, for the same reason; but induction is still present in its service.

An aerial cable, with nineteen conducting wires, one thousand feet in length, has been run from headquarters to Summer street, for service in the South-end circuits.

The reconstruction of the Dorchester circuits is in progress, it being intended to build an additional circuit for receiving alarms, and a box gong circuit to give all box signals to the houses in that district.

Several houses have been equipped with apparatus boards in addition to those previously reported.

The local register service, for recording box signals, is being extended, and most of the houses will be supplied with it during the present year.

No serious damage to the system has been occasioned by storms, and with the exception of the destruction of the circuits passing over the district of the great fire of Nov. 28, there has been but little interruption in any part of the service. No. 7 circuit was in contact with the guard-wire of the West End Electric Railway on the night of Jan. 31, resulting in the burning out of several boxes and other apparatus, but being of a local character, the damage was soon repaired.

The usual repairs and changes in the routes of the circuits, necessitated by natural deterioration and rebuilding or construction of new buildings, have been made, and many miles of wire have been run in the extension of circuits to locations of new boxes which have been placed in service within the year.

There are now sixty circuits used in the system.

Thirty-three boxes, public and special, have been added to the service during the year.

Stock has been used as follows : —

31 miles No. 9 iron wire.

11½ “ No. 12 copper wire.

10,000 feet kerite wire.

160 lbs. cotton ins. wire.

22,000 feet lumber.

1,550 glass insulators.

30 poles.
